1

CHIJMES

Marvel: A beautifully restored heritage landmark that served as the backdrop for the movie's lavish wedding scene.

Why Visit: Once a Catholic convent—the Convent of the Holy Infant Jesus—this historic complex now blends old-world charm with modern sophistication, offering upscale restaurants, cafés, and boutiques.

2

Long Bar

Step Back in Time: Sip on a Singapore Sling at the colonial-era Raffles Hotel, a symbol of old-world luxury and indulgence, as seen in the film. Where littering is encouraged.

3

Marina Bay Sands SkyPark

Enjoy: Breathtaking skyline views from the public SkyPark Observation Deck. You may glimpse the hotel-guests-only infinity pool across a barrier, but it isn't accessible from the deck.

Why Visit: The Observation Deck and CÉ LA VI match the rooftop views seen in 'Crazy Rich Asians'. The infinity pool shown in the film is exclusively for hotel guests.

4

Gardens by the Bay

Explore: Witness the Supertrees light up in a mesmerising night show, and step into the Cloud Forest, a misty dome filled with exotic plants.

Why Visit: Featured in the film, the Supertree Grove and Cloud Forest blend breathtaking greenery with futuristic architecture.

5

Newton Food Centre

Indulge: Experience the vibrant street food scene made famous in ‘Crazy Rich Asians’. This bustling hawker centre is a spot for Singaporean dishes like chilli crab, satay, Hainanese chicken rice, and fried carrot cake.

Best to visit: Evening (after 4:30 PM) is when most hawker stalls are fully operating, offering a wide array of authentic Singaporean dishes.

6

Collyer Quay

Admire: Stunning waterfront views with Marina Bay Sands and iconic buildings surrounding the area. Be sure to spot the red lamp at Clifford Pier, a historic symbol of Singapore’s maritime heritage and colonial past.

Photo Ideas: No visit to Singapore is complete without stopping at Merlion Park, where the iconic Merlion spouts water into Marina Bay, symbolising the nation’s fishing village origins.

Nature Day Tour

From garden calm to hilltop outlooks

1 UNESCO World Heritage Site: Singapore Botanic Gardens

2 Fort Canning

3 Henderson Waves, Southern Ridges & Beyond

4 Chek Jawa Wetlands (Pulau Ubin)

Click on the ● icon on map for directions

1

UNESCO World Heritage Site: Singapore Botanic Gardens

National Orchid Garden: Home to over 1,000 orchid species and 2,000 hybrids, including Vanda Miss Joaquim, Singapore's national flower.

Swan Like: A serene spot to enjoy the tranquillity of nature and if you are lucky you might spot the graceful swan gliding across the water.

Rainforest Trail: Immerse yourself in a remnant tropical rainforest dating back over 150 years.

2

Fort Canning

Fort Canning Park: A 19th-century hilltop park with historical structures, wartime relics and scenic walking trails.

Sang Nila Utama Garden: A garden with reflective pools, Southeast Asian flora and stone carvings honouring the founder of Singapura.

Spice Garden: A tribute to Singapore's spice-trade heritage, showcasing historically significant spices and herbs.

Battlebox: A well-preserved underground WWII command bunker; guided tours available (ticketed).

Photo Ideas: Fort Gate, Gothic Gate, and the Fort Canning Tree Tunnel (spiral staircase).

3

Henderson Waves, Southern Ridges & Beyond

Henderson Waves: Walk Singapore's highest pedestrian bridge with panoramic views of city and greenery.

Southern Ridges: A 10 km chain of parks and elevated walks linking hilltop lookouts and forest canopies.

Mount Faber area: Scenic viewpoints and heritage nutmeg history; nearby, The Alkaff Mansion

Gillman Barracks: Former military barracks turned contemporary art enclave amidst green spaces.

Reflections at Bukit Chandu: A thoughtful memorial to the Battle of Pasir Panjang and the Malay Regiment; exhibits and quiet contemplation spaces.

4

Chek Jawa Wetlands (Pulau Ubin)

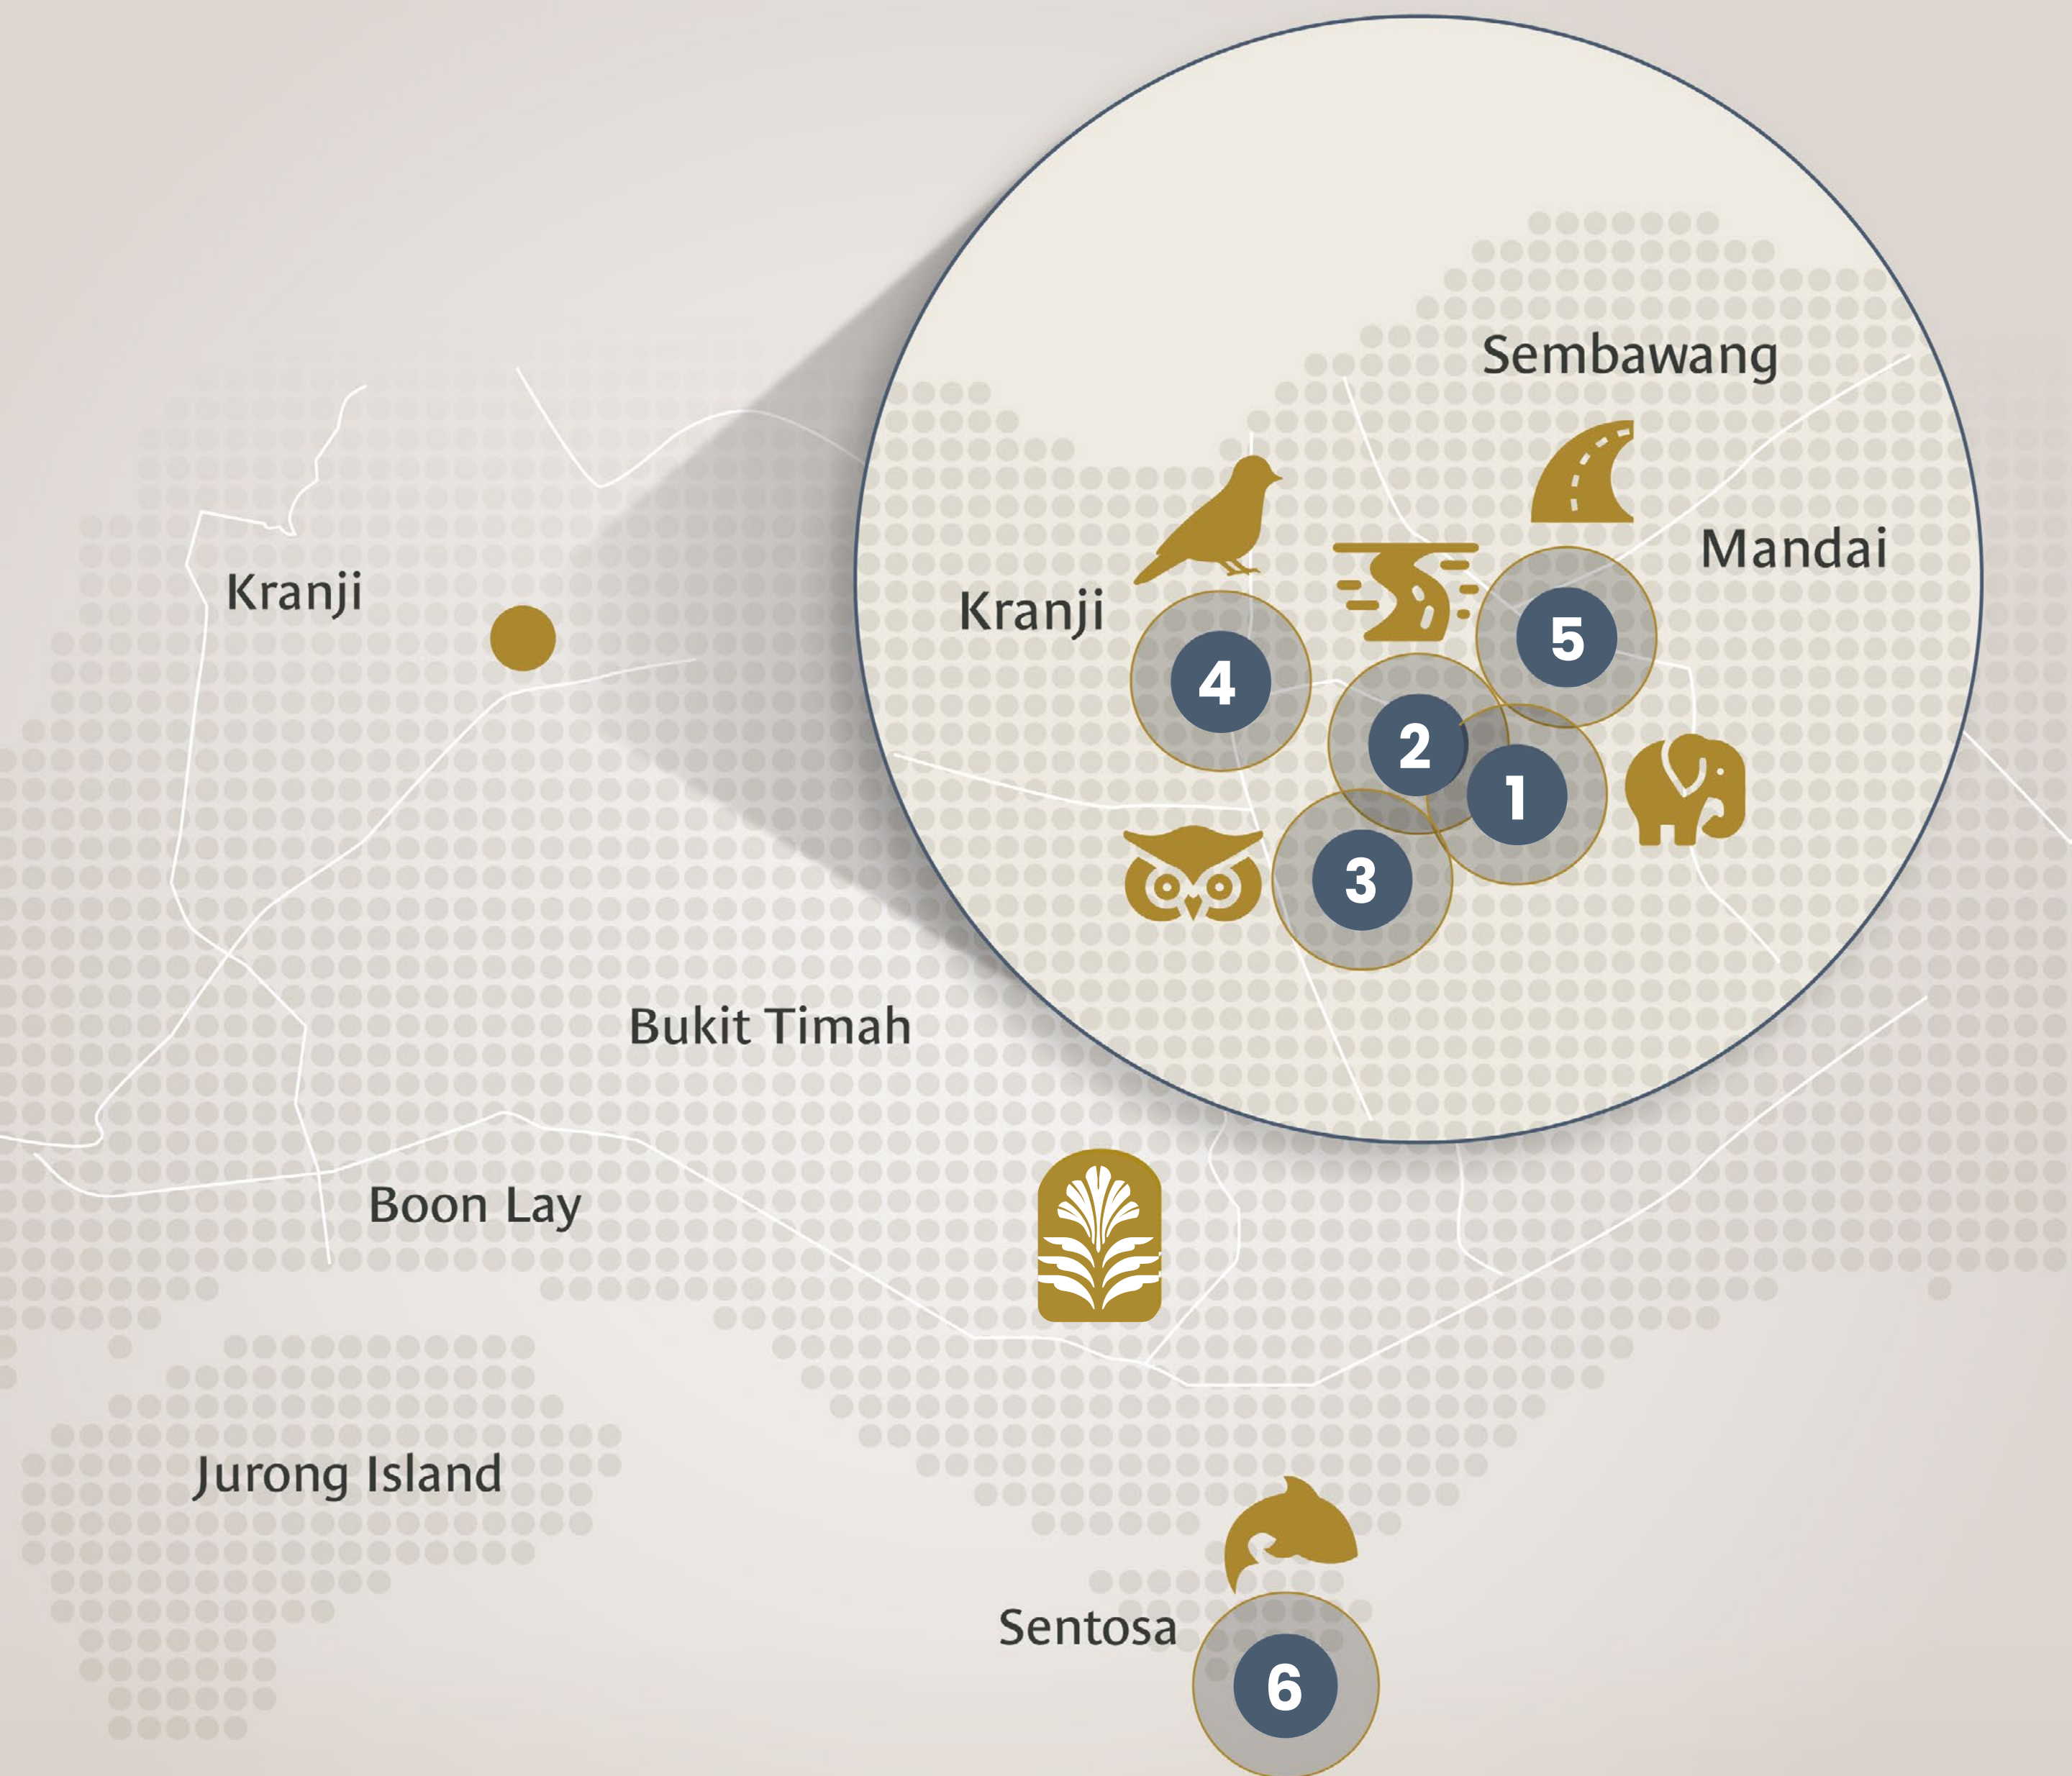

Explore: A biodiversity hotspot where six habitats meet — mangroves, seagrass lagoons, coral rubble, coastal forest, rocky shore and sandflats — via boardwalks and a viewing tower.

Good to know: Access is via bumboat to Pulau Ubin and onward transport; tide-dependent for best viewing. Allow half a day if adding to your itinerary.

Wildlife Wonders

Take a walk on the wild side!

1 Singapore Zoo

2 River Wonders

3 Night Safari

4 Bird Paradise

5 Mandai Boardwalk

6 Singapore Oceanarium
(Sentosa)

1

Singapore Zoo

Why Visit: Known for its open-concept enclosures, the zoo allows animals to roam freely in habitats resembling their natural environments.

What to See: Visit the free-ranging orangutan habitats, Elephant and White Tiger exhibits, and don't miss Rainforest KidzWorld for interactive fun or the Wild Africa zone to witness African wildlife.

2

River Wonders

Why Visit: Home to animals and plants from the world's greatest river systems, including the Amazon, Mekong, and Yangtze Rivers.

What to See: The Giant Panda Forest, where you can see Kai Kai and Jia Jia, as well as riverine species like manatees, otters, and freshwater stingrays.

3

Night Safari

Why Visit: A world-first attraction that allows visitors to explore the nocturnal habits of over 2,500 animals across 35 hectares of tropical jungle.

What to See: Ride the tram or walk along trails to spot leopards, binturongs, flying squirrels, and greater mouse-deer. The Creatures of the Night show offers an up-close look at nocturnal species.

4

Bird Paradise

Why Visit: Opened in 2023, this park showcases over 400 species of birds from around the globe, including flamingos, hornbills, and parrots.

What to See: Wander through immersive aviaries like the Amazonian Rainforest and African Rainforest and experience the vibrant colours and sounds of exotic birds in their natural habitats.

5

Mandai Boardwalk

Why Visit: A beautiful, tranquil boardwalk along the Mandai parks, offering peaceful walks through lush greenery and reservoir views.

What to See: Enjoy nature's beauty as you stroll through this elevated boardwalk, spotting birds, flora, and reservoir views, while being close to the wildlife reserves.

6

Singapore Oceanarium (Sentosa)

Why Visit: One of the region's largest marine attractions, home to an extensive collection of ocean life.

What to See: Marvel at the Open Ocean-style panoramic habitat (mantas, sharks, napoleon wrasse), explore reef galleries like Coral Garden, and visit interactive zones such as the Touch Pool.

Note: Located on Sentosa and separate from the Mandai parks.
